PARIS, June 23 (Agencies) - Four Communists were appointed as ministers Tuesday night io the oew Socialistdominated French government, a presidential spokesman announced. The four Communists will join some 36 Socialists and left-radicals in the second government under Prime Minister Pierre Mauroy since Mitterrand defeated former head of state Valery Giscard d'Estaing in presidential elections on May 13. Presidential spokesman Pierre Beregery named the communists as Charles Fierman; number two to party leader Georges Marchais; senator and senior civil servant Anicet le Pors; party theater and cinema specialist Jack Ralite; and former metal-worker Marcel Rigout.

Mitterrand hopes that international concern over the first inclusion of Communist ministers in a major Western government for 34 years will be lessened if they only hold minor posts and because the Socialists can carry through their program of economic and social reforms in parliament without Com-munist backing. (Finland, Iceland and Portugal bave also had Communist government ministers.)

Mauroy said Monday that his new government would be appointed in time for the next regular cabinet meeting Wednesday morning. Gen. Charles de Gaulle gave the health and air ministry portfolios to Communists in the first government he formed in September 1944 after the liberation of Nazi-occupied France.

Communist ministers were present in almost every French government up to May 1947. The party held 10 ministries by August 1946 when its secretary-general Maurice Thorez was deputy prime minister for the second time. In May 1947, Socialist Prime Minister Charles Ramadier dismissed his five Communist ministers wheo they refused to accept the U.S. Marshall Plan for Europe's eoconomic recovery from World War II.

On foreign policy - the most delicate aspect of the negotiations, as the French Communists have so far backed Moscow almost unreservedly — the draft agreement said that both sides would cocourage respect for the right of self-determination for peoples, sovereignty of states, noninterference in their internal affairs and the right of each country to its security." On disarmament in Europe and beyond, both sides "will support France's international action in respecting its alliances for peace and progressive disarmament with a view to the simultaneous dissolution of military blocs while assuring the balance of forces in Europe and the world and the security of every country, the draft agreement added,

On the Middle East, the proposed pact acknowledged the effects of the Camp David agreement and "reaffirms the right of Israel and all states in the regioo to existence and security, as well as the right of the Palestinian people to a homeland."

The draft agreement added, "The two sides have discussed the development of the situation in Poland and wish that the country and its people themselves lead to a successful conclusioo the process of economic, social and democratic renewal in which they are Both parties also expressed their solidarity in the economic and political sectors with the peoples of the third World who, "as in El-Salvador and Nicaragua, struggle for their national emancipation, development and democratic and social liberation.

Uranium to Iraq

Brazil bares Israeli lies

BRASILIA, Brazil June 23 (AP) - The Brazilian government said Monday it believes Israeli secret agents purposely provided false information to journalists about alleged sales of uranium by the south American country to

The foreigo ministry said it was convinced that agents of the Israeli secret service, Moshad, approached at least one Brazilian reporter saying that Brazil had shipped a large quantity of uranium dioxide in a secret deal using Iraqi jets last February. The information was published widely in Brazil last week, revealed by the Estado de Sao Paulo newspaper. The charge was denied by Foreign Minister Ramiro Saraiva Guerreiro, calling the allegation " a cloak and dagger story." Presidential spokesmen and military leaders also denied the allegations.

" The fact that the secret service of a country spreads slander against Brazil is in itself extremely serious," said foreign ministry spokesman Bernardo Pericas." The episode could have serious consequences concerning

U.K.'s jobless hit 2.6m mark

LONDON, June 23 (AFP) — The oumber of people out of work in Britain rose hy 122,500 between May and June reaching 2,680,977, a figure unequalled since the days of the Great Depressioo in the 1930's. relations between the governments of Brazil and Israel," he said.

Pericas said he would not speculate on the possible consequences, bot when asked about recalling Brazil's ambassador in Tel Aviv or a possible break in diplomatie relations, he replied " the government is examining the subject with all of its implications."

The foreign ministry has condemned Israel's air strike that destroyed a ouclear facility outside Baghdad. It said the report of Brazilian uranium sales was designed " to divert attention... from Israeli aggression against Iraq.

Pericas, in a news briefing for reporters, said the foreign ministry accepted a version of the alleged spy cootaet with Mario Chimanovitch, Israel correspondent for the Rio de Janeiro daily Jornal do Brazil. The newspaper reported on Saturday that Chimanovitch was approached by a Moshad agent, who told him to describe information he provided concerning Brazilian uranium sales to Iraq as coming from " members of the Israeli scientific community." The newspaper said it checked the information and refused to publish it.

However, similar information published by the Estado de Sao Paulo provoked national debate and a war of words involving Israeli and Iraqi diplomats, Brazilian officials, and supporters of the various sides. Iraqi Ambassador Farik Maiki threatened to sue the Sao Paulo oewspaper and said the reports about a secret shipment were the work of Zionists. Israeli Ambassador Shaul Ramati, summoned last week hy foreign ministry officials, said he was satisfied with Brazil's denial of the report.

Brazil and Iraq announced last year a hroad-hased ouclear deal, which foresees joint research, technological training and eventual transfers of uranium supplies. But Guerreiro told reporters Brazil has inot sent uranim to any country " because it doesn't have any yet. "

Most experts say it will be several years before Brazil could export significant quantities of processed uranium.

Ali Rajai expected to run for president

TEHRAN, Jone 23 (Agencies) Prime Minister Muhammad Ali Rajai is likely to be the front-runner for Iran's presidency in the wake of Abolhassan Bani-Sadr's ouster, reliable sources here predicted Tuesday. The sources said that Rajai would be the nominee of the Islamie Republican Party for the next presidential election, and he might run uncontested.

The sources who declined to be identified by name said state minister and government spokesman Behzad Nabavi, Iran's chief negotiator in the bostage crisis, would move up to the premiership if Rajai runs for president within the next two months. An official in Rajar's office said it was too early to speculate on the IRP president-premier slate. "Bot the leaders of the IRP, the dominant clergy led party that engineered Bani-Sadr's parliamentary impeachment Sunday was reported by Tehran sources as the only party likely to run a candidate in the presidential elections. Rajai is a member of the three-man interim presidency council that constitutionally assumed Bani-Sadr's presidential powers until a new chief of state is elected by universal suffrage within 50 days. The two other members are Chief Justice Ayatollah Muhammad Hussein Beheshti and Parliament Speaker Hojatoleslam Ali Akbar Hashemi Rafsanjani.

The presidency council is made up of the foremost IRP leaders. But since the constitution stipulates only laymen are eligible for Iran's presidency, clerical leaders like Beheshti and Rafsanjani are barred from the race.

The IRP cootrols the majority in parliameot as well as the government and key judicial posts. The party resented Bani-Sadr's liberal policies that made him the rallying point of the oatlon's secularized leftist and nationalist forces. Egyptian Information Minister Mansour Hassan refused Tuesday to confirm or deny reports that the 47-year-old fugitive ex-president had fled to Egypt. One government source in Cairo said it would be "logical" to conclude that Bani-Sadr was there. But another government source closely connected with the family of the late Shah Muhammad Reza Pahlavi categorically denied Bani-Sadr's preseoce in Egypt.

The revolutionary prosecutor of Ker-manshah province on the Iraqi border said in a statement published by the IRP newspaper Jomhouri Eslami Tuesday morning Rani-Sadr possibly was on the run in western Iran and urged people of the region to be on the look-out for him.

JEDDAH, June 23 — Four Arab foreign ministers resume meetings here Wednesday morning on how to defuse the situation in Lebannn, a country torn out by civil war since 1975 and a constant target of Israeli attacks on Lebanese and Palestinians.

Saudi Arabia, Abdul Halim Khaddam of Syria, Sheikh Sabbah Al-Ahmad of Kuwait, Fred Butros of Lebanon, and the Arab League Secretary General Chedli Klibi, began their second round of talks Tuesday, taking op where they left off at a session early this month in the Lebanese town of Beiteddin. The ministers form the Arab Follow-up Committee established at the end of the 1975-76 civil war and subsequently shelved and revived several times.

After the meeting, Tuesday night, Leban-ese Minister Butros told pressmen that the talks dealt with what he called the "14 points for a coociliaooo" as well as a working paper submitted by Lebanon. He however stressed that the ministers took upon themselves not to disclose anything to the media about a Lebanese action plan, at this stage, Earlier, Syrian Minister Khaddam stated that" the most important question occupying us now is to settle the problem of cooperation between certain Lebanese parties and the Zionist enemy.

Sources close to the committee said that it was primordial to start hy halting the fighting in Zahle. For his part, Butros said that be felt optimistic after Tuesday's session, because all the participants feel their responsibility. But it is premature to speak about results, he said, adding that the meeting took place in a serene atmosphere.

Later in the evening King Khaled received Kuwaio Minister Sheikh Sahhah Al-Ahmad. The meeting with the King was attended hy Secood Deputy Premier and Commander of the National Guard Prince Abdullah; Makkah Governor Prince Majed; and the King's Adviser Dr. Rashad Pharaon. The chief stumbling block to a political solotion in Lebanoo has been a demand hy Syria that the right-wing Pbalangist militia make a public declaration renouncing ties with Israel.

Lebanese newspapers have published a variety of plans which they say will be discussed at the Jeddah conference. Most of the proposals center on disengaging the warring factions and establishing an on-the-ground settlement.

In Beirut, U.S. presidential envoy Philip Habib met Lebanese President Elias Sarkis Tuesday as part of continuing diplomatic contacts to defuse Israeli-Syrian tension over Lehanon. Habib told reporters after the meeting at the Baabda Presidential Palace that he had nothing to report. "I am continuing my mission, as you know," he said.

Habib flew into Beirut Monday from Jeddah on his fifth visit to Lebanon since the start of the Israeli-Syrian dispute over the stationing of missiles in the Bekaa Valley at the end of April.

Syrian President Hafez Assad attacked the United States in a speech in Damascus Monday night and predicted the defeat of the U.S.-Zionist superiority in the Middle East.

In Kuwait, newspaper editorials Tuesday praised Arah League efforts to overcome mter-Arab divisious and to find a solution to the Lehanon problem.

'We certainly wish the Arah committee success hecause failure will automatically mean the success of the Israeli solution or the de facto situation in Lebanon," Al -Rai al-Aam said. The Syrian-Phalangist confrontation in Lehanon started April 1 in the Bekaa Valley city of Zahle. Syrian troops from the Arah Deterrent Force, which has been stationed in Lehanon since 1976 to police the civil war armistice, shelled Zable in an effort to drive out rightwing Christian milioas holed up inside the city.

The fighting spread to Beirut and the San-nine mountains between Zahle and the capital. By early June, more than 560 persons had heen killed and nearly 2,000 wounded.

The Syriaos, who operate in Lebanon at the request of the Lehanese government and the mandate of the Arah League, moved SAM-6 anti-aircraft missiles into the Bekaa on April 29, one day after Israeli planes shot down two Syrian helicopters near Zahle.

WASHINGTON, June 23 - Record figures for 1980 production of crude oil and natural gas liquids (NGL) were announced Tuesday, hy the Arabian American Oil Company (Aramco). Released simultaneously in Dhahran and Washington, D.C., the statistics showed a 3.8 percent increase in 1980 crude oil production of 3.5 hillion harrels. This compares to 1979 crude production of 3.38 billion barrels. Most dramatie was a 22.7 percent increase in natural gas liquid production during 1980. NGL production was 135 million last year and 110.7 million harrels in 1979. Daily production of NGL averaged 369,232 barrels in Aramco, which is owned by Standard Oil of California, Exxon, Texaco and Mobil, also announced that 1980 crude oil production averaged 9.6 million barrels per day, which compares to 9.2 million barrels in average daily production in 1979.

The 1980 figures were disclosed along with the release of Aramco's 1980 annual report and represent about 21 percent of the free world's total oil production and 52 percent of the total crude produced in the Middle East. Aramco is the biggest exporter of crude oil and NGL productioo. Saudi Arabia - the biggest exporter of crude oil and NGL reserves of hydrocarboos.

Other highlights of the annual report included the announcement that Aramco discovered six new productive reservoirs of oil and two of oatural gas in existing fields and that oil was encountered in five new locations.

Crude oil proven reserves of 113.5 billion barrels and probable reserves of 178.7 hillion barrels were reported. Gas reserves were listed at 68.8 trillion standard cubic feet of proven reserves and 114.6 million SCF of probable reserves. Record figures for gas production accompanied the completion of 75 percent of the multi-billion dollar master gas system (MGS).

A major part of the system is the Ju'aymah fractiooation plant, which can process 350,000 barrels per day of ethane and NGL. The program began last November. Other major MGS projects completed during 1980 included virtually all of the 1.5 billion-SCED Shedgum plant and the pipeline laid for the east-west NGL/ethaoe transpeoinsular pipeline from Shedgum to Yanhu', a distance of 1,170 kilometers.

Iraqi president calls for nuclear balance with Israel

BAGHDAD, June 23 (Agencies) - Iraqi President Saddam Hussein called Tuesday on "all the countries of the world seeking peace and security" to help Arahs acquire an atomie homh to match those which had already been manufactured by Israel. The Iraqi chief of state, commenting for the first time on the Israeli Air attack on his country's nuclear center at Tammuz outside Baghdad, spoke at a meeting of the cabinet. His comments were reported by the Iraqi News Agency. President Hussein advocated a nuclear balance between Arab states and Israel, comparing such a balance with relations between the United States and the Soviet Union.

"I do not think that the Soviet Union and the United States wish to use the atomic bomb, but they have still continued to develop their nuclear arsenals," Hussein said. Saying that "all nuclear experts agree the Hahrew state possesses at this time several atomic bombs," Hussein said this situation should he halanced through nuclear armament of the Arah states.

He asked what would happen to the Arabs — and the rest of humanity — if Israel one day used the bomb against the Arabs because they would not submit to its conditions. Hussein called the raid on Tammuz a "world precedent".

LONDON, June 23, (R) — The Bank of England Tuesday announced what it called a further step in the evolution of tactics aimed at controlling the growth of money circulating in the economy, which the government sees as the key to curbing inflation.

The Central Bank published a draft plan for improving its techniques of controlling the money supply and set August 20 as the provisional date for bringing the system into force. The moves will abolish the existing requirement for banks to keep a formal ratio of reserves to assets, a safeguard which was aimed at making sure that banks did not over-exteod themselves. This will be replaced by a more flexible system of control, including spot checks, the bank says.

Controlling the money supply is a central feature of the monetarist acti-inflation policies being followed by Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's Conservative government, as well as by the Reagan administration in the United States.

But Mrs. Thatcher has come under criticism from experts who bave said her governmeot has not controlled the money supply rigidly enough, despite public spending cuts and high interest rates. Assessments at the end of last year showed that money growth had been twice the targeted annual figure at

There were newspaper reports then that the prime minister bad castigated the Central Bank governor, Gordon Richardsoo, over the bank's money control techniques. Financial experts see the oew measures as part of a gradual move toward eventually abolishing the minimum lending rate (MLR), or bank rate, the Bank of England's basic interest rate which sets the mark for lending rates throughout the country. Banking sources said it could lead to an era of more market-related interest rates, but they noted that the Bank of England has said it wants to avoid the volatility of interest rates which bave become the hallmark of open money-market operations in the United

The volatility of U.S. interest rates, despite moves by the Federal Reserve, the central bank, to tighten its short-term control of the money supply, has brought criticisms from Europeans who say it places too much strain on foreign exchange markets.

European central banks have bad to sell off reserves to defend their currencies against the sudden surges of the dollar which have followed rises in U.S. interest rates, still at 20 percent or more.

Japanese firms vie for new KAU project

companies are interested in Saudi Arabia's plan to build the multi-billion dollar King Abdul Aziz University Campus near Jeddah, industry sources said here Tuesday.

The sources said the 10-year project will cost at least 1,000 billion yen ($4.5 billion) and include a satellite communication system to relay lectures from universities such as Harvard and Oxford.

Japan's Mitsui company was among several Japanese firms expected to bid for contracts in an international tender planned by the government, they said. The campus is expected to include at least 50 buildings ranging from lecture theaters, dormitories, staff houses and libraries, the sources said.

They said it will be built as part of Saudi Arabia's third five-year development program, which started last year.

The first phase of the SR12 billion campus was opened earlier this year by King Khaled when he unveiled the plaque of the faculty and staff housing project at a cost of SR318.2 million. It includes also student apartments scheduled for completion in June 1981. They were built by the South Korean Daelim Industrial Co. whose president was present at

People make events and experience them through their intellectual, cultural and creative capabilities. Saudi Arabia's history is replete with such events right from the time of the Prophet Abraham (peace be upon him) to God's choicest Messenger Muhammad (peace be upon him) and even up to the present age.

At that time of unity for the Arabian Peninsula, there was no machinery or technology to play a prominent role; all we had was intellect and the conscience of people who understood the meaning of patriotism and worked sincerely for the country. The sacrifices they made and the struggles they embarked on entitle them to enjoy a prominent mention in our contemporary history. Their personalities and their works ought to be studied from all aspects so that the present and future generations keep themselves abreast of past struggles and sacrifices.

This, I believe, is the responsibility of our elderly people of pioneering ideas, who have witnessed the early stages with all the good and difficult aspects of life hefore and during the country's resurgence. This also is the responsibility of our national publishing houses: to equip the present and future generations with valuable information and material about those stalwarts who had dedicated their lives to building a strong base for the country's future progress and develop-

In this connection, Sheikh Muhammad Ali Maghrebi has rendered a valuable service by continuously writing on aspects of social life in the He jaz during the first half of the 14th century of the Islamie calendar. It is our wish that the Sheikh collects all his works and publishes them suitably in the form of books for the benefit of future generations. Such a work will render a commendable service to our men of singular qualities and will, at the same time prove that the real wealth lies more in intellect and in conscience than in financial resources.

Arabs to stress nuclear growth

BEIRUT, June 23 (R) — Arah states, undeterred by Israel's attack on an Iraqi atomie research center outside Baghdad, say they are determined to press ahead with plans to develop nuclear energy.

The Arab countries, including the big oil producers, argue that they need atomic power to supplement and eventually take over from dwindling and increasingly expensive oil resources. The oil states are as conscious as the fuel-hungry nations of the West that eventually, and possibly within the next 25 years, the oll will start running nut. They say they will need atomic power to drive the big industrial projects they are now construct-

Ten Arab countries and the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) attended a conference in Damascus, last week to discuss ways of cooperating to take the Arab world into the nuclear era.

The conference, also attended by government and scientific organizations from 11 non-Arab countries, including the U.S., was overshadowed by the Israeli air strike June 7 against Iraq but bad been planned a long time before. The Arab countries, insisting on their right to acquire nuclear technology, demanded international inspection of Israeli atomic installations, which they believe are being used to produce nuclear weapons. The four-day Damascus conference agreed to establish a committee from the Arah Fund for Economic and Social Development, the Organization of Arab Petroleum Exporting Countries (OAPEC) and the Arah Organization for Mineral Resources to help Arah countries planning to set up nuclear power

The Israeli attack, hy focusing world attention on things nuclear, also appears to have made the Arab states more determined than ever to become involved in what they regard ference statement by Tunisia, Sudan, Jordan, Lehanon, North Yemen, Morocco, the United Arab Emirates (UAE), Saudi Arabia, Algeria and Syria urged cooperation among Arab countries to acquire and exploit nuclear technology for peaceful purposes, especially for the generation of electricity.

The assistant secretary-general of OAPEC, Dr. Adnan Mustafa, earlier presented a paper to delegates suggesting the creation of a network of 20 atomic plants across the Middle East to ensure electricity supplies for the 21st century. The Syrian minister for electric power, Omar Yousef, forecast that the consumption of electric power in Syria would rise by about seven times in the next decade and he announced that his country was pressing ahead with plans to build a plant by 1990. UAE said it was also planning to use atomic power in the generation of electricity.

Dr. Mustafa suggested that the 20 reactors be sited in Morocco, Tunisia, Iraq and Sandi Arabia, They would be linked by an electrical erid to enable the distribution of power throughout the Arab world.

Algeria could accommodate a pan-Arab center for uranium enrichment and processing, which would use uranium mined from deposits in the Arah countries, he added. He estimated the cost of the program at $25 bil-lion. His paper underlined that OAPEC is acutely aware that differnt forms of power have to be harnessed.

Egypt was the first Arah country to obtain nuclear technology, receiving a small reactor from the Soviet Union in 1961.

Only Iraq and Libya have so far followed in Cairo's footsteps and established atomic installations. And none are of a size suitable for the commercial generation of electricity, although a number of Arab countries are planning this.

Like Egypt both Iraq's and Libya's first reactors were provided by the Soviet Union, one Iraqi Research center dates back to 1968. Baghdad later signed nuclear agreements with France, Italy and Brazil and the Osirak research center destroyed by the Israeli shelling was built by the French under an agreement signed in 1975.

Western expressions of disquiet about the possibility of the proliferation of nuclear weapons in the Middle East are greeted with cynicism in the Arah world.

Arah diplomats point out that while Iraq has signed the 1968 Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty, Israel, which has fought four wars with the Arabs in the last three decades, has not.

Assad attacks America for backing Israel

DAMASCUS, June 23 (AP) - Syrian President Hafez Assad sharply attacked the United States for supporting Israel and predicted "the U.S. imperialist-Zionist plan to impose Zionist superiority" in the Middle East would be defeated.

Assad was addressing the opening session of a conference of the World Peace Council, convened here to express "solidarity with Syria and the Palestine revolution." Assad nrrived at the conference hall flanked hy Palestine Liberation Organization Chairman Yasser Arafat and World Peace Council Chairman Romesh Chandra of India.
Assad said the U.S. was turning Israel and

Egypt into a hase to spread "imperialist domination" into the area. "Israel is the tool heing used to bring Syria to its knees and destroy Arab Steadfastness," Assad said. "This explains the latest events and sbeds a light on Israel's attitude toward Syria and its forces in Lebanon," Assad said, adding that the "recent threats and the military buildup are aimed at causing the explosion of the whole area."

With the "recent events and threats" Assad was referring to the tension with Israel over stationing Syrian anti-aircraft missiles in Lebanon, and Israel's threats to bomh the missiles if they were not withdrawn by Syria.

He added that Israel's ultimate aim was to create a Zionist state extending from the Nile to the Euphrates. "This is the reason for their threats and attacks against Syria and the creation of the so-called missile crisis: he their province, a spokesman said Monday. The three Eritrean factions, who until February were at loggedieads, have since formed several joint committees and are also contacting several African countries in the hope they too can persuade the Ethiopians to negotiate with the Eritreans.

The diplomatic offensive comes amid efforts by the United States to encourage Sudan. Ethiopia's neighbor, to woo the regime of Col. Mengistu Haile Mariam out of the Soviet orbit in an attempt to protect the vital oil traffic to the West and stabilize the Horn of Africa, diplomatic sources said. The United States is hoping Ethiopia will follow the example of Egypt, Sudan and Somalia to rid to itself of the Soviet. The Soviet Union and Cuba are estimated to have 20,000 troops and advisers in Ethiopia, a country strategically located at the mouth of the Red Sea. Most of the West's oil tankers pass through that area.

The spokesman, Taha Nur, member of the foreign relations committee of the Eritrea Liberation Front-Popular Liberation Forces (ELF-PLF), said preliminary contacts are going on with the United States. Italy and some other countries.

He said 'diplomatic soundings' have been made in Khartoum, with U.S. officials, But he declined to go into details. Similar contacts have been made with Italian officials. The Eritreans maintain very close ties with Italy hecause their province was an Italian colony for 62 years until 1952 when it was reverted to Ethiopian colony for 62 years until 1952 when it was reverted to Ethiopia by a U.N. General Assembly vote. Ethiopia, also once administrated by Italy, formally annexed Eritrea m 1961

Nur, during a press conference before the interview said the Eritreans were also working closely with several African countries especially Senegal, Guinca and Tanzania who bave promised to bring the subject of Eritrea at the summit conference of the OAU.

U.S. BOYCOTT CALL

Naim Haddad, speaker of the Iraqi National Assembly and his country's representative at the Arab Parliamentary Conference in Beirut, issued a strong call for a total boycott of the United States: Arab oil and Arab money bave to stay away from the United States, and all joint investments have to be liquidated.

The call was, of course, a response to the Israeli raid on the nuclear research center in Baghdad. And while the anger underlying the demand is quite understandable, it still came as a surprise. For it was Iraq's own foreign minister who negotiated with America's representative at the U.N. for a resolution condemning the Israeli raid and calling on Israel to subject its nuclear program to international inspection and safeguards - a resolution designed to avoid an American

The background to Haddad's call - namely the antipathy to the United States stemming from its role as Israel's mainstay - is itself no secret. The fact that it comes from such a high official gives it a great deal of substance. But that substance would surely have been enhanced bad it been understood as stemming from Dr. Saadoun Hammadi as well, the foreign minister responsible for coordinating the U.N. Security Council response with the Americans.

The call for a boycott of America is the more surprising in its coming within a context of growing rapprochement between Iraq and the United States, a development which Iraq has seen as congruent with the higher pan-Arab interests. It is not clear whether it means that Iraq bad revised this policy.

The substance of the call is bound to arouse a great deal of interest, from both prospective supporters and opponents. It might indeed be the right response to Israel's growing insanity. But it is still far from clear whether it is the Iraqi government's final stand on the issue.

Soviet press attacks Kania and colleagues By Mark Frankland

WARSAW -Shortly after the small group of Polish Communists called the Katowice Party Forum bad published their savage attack on the party's leadership, I asked a senior official in the Warsaw party organ-been used for a long time," was the answer. "There are echoes there of Czecboslovakia." This was before the Soviet press chose to give the Katowice Forum publicity and, incidentally, to exaggerate its significance by claiming that it was presided over by a new number of the Polish polit-bureau, the Silesian miner Gerard Gabrys. Gabrys, it now turns out, did nothing of the kind, but that scarcely lessened the impact of those Moscow

ization to comment on it. "Words like that baven't

Soviet papers bave not given space to the arguments of the reformists in the Polish party. That they should chose to print an implicit attack on Kania and bis colleagues as well as an open onslaught on the reformists just three weeks before the optimists think back to Czechoslovakia. The Soviet invasion there came less than three weeks before the Czechs were to bold a party congress that would bave confirmed their reformist movement in power. But does history repeat itself as neatly as that? Of course, the Russians bave every reason to hint mat it might, because fear of such a disaster is probably the single most powerful restraint on everyone in Poland today. There is, however, another explanation of what Moscow is trying to do.

A leader of the Katowice Forum was asked by a Polish journalist whether its purpose was to signal the Russians. The answer was that the forum's members wanted to "settle our problems by ourselves. If we adhered to the opinion that our issues ought to be settled with the assistance of intervention, we could sit and wait, could we not?" Few people in Poland are going to accept a statement from this quarter as gospel truth, but the fact is that the forum's emergence fits into a pattern of Soviet policy toward the Polish party. For the last two months the Soviet press bas been criticizing Polish Communists for their weaknesses but at the same time arguing that they are trying to do better and to take charge of the situation. This, one gathers, is also the message that the Soviet Embassy in Warsaw bas been giving to its Polisb contacts. Soviet diplomats baye particularly stressed the need for the leadership to take power.

Why, they have complained, has the leadership allowed itself to seem weak first by opposing new developments like the peasant farmers' union or the so-called "borizontal structures" in the party and deal of change is tolerable so long as the leadership is seen to be in charge of it.

Moscow certainly seems to have reservations on this score about Kania, indicated by the rare refercoces to him in the Soviet press. He is often seen on Polish television attending local party meetings, deferentially taking notes while critical remarks are made from the floor. This is scarcely party leadership as the Russians are used to practicing it.
The Katowice Forum thus serves the Russians as a loudly harking sheepdog whose noise is calculated to drive a flock back in the right direction. And although Poles are the least sheeplike of people, the reform-minded Communists among them will certainly pay attention to that bark. They, more than anyone else, ponder the example of Czechos-

One way they bope to accommudate the Russians is by assuring them that the party congress will not make a clean sweep of the present top leadership and that, as one reformist said, "old leaders will bave a chance to come back through elections if they regain trust."

The Soviet choice of this method makes all the more sense because the consequences of invasion, the drastic alternative, grow more and more alarming each day. It is true that the Soviet army during the recent Warsaw Pact mannevers set : up signals equipment that would allow beadquarters in the Soviet Union to communicate directly with units anywhere in Poland. But for the moment this seems to be part worst-case contingency plan, part psychological warfare, for no attempt has been

The Russians may not find it easy to sympathize with Poles but they do know them. Cardinal Wyszynski's funeral was just the last reminder of the latter's enduring national spirit. It was, as an excited. young polish Communist said, "not just a funeral. It was also a referendum." Poland's flat farming lands are not good guerrilla country but there appears to be an unconquerable maquis in most Polish bearts. The Russians, it is worth repeating, are perfectly aware of this. - (ONS)

Peking wooing New Delhi By Granville Watts

Chinese Foreign Minister Huang Hua pays an official visit to India this week as Peking sets out to woo the government of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi. The six-day visit which begins on Friday will be the first by a Chinese leader since the late prime minister Chou En-lai came bere in 1960. Relations were virtually frozen after the two countries fought a short but bitter border war in 1962 but bave been steadily improving in recent years.

Nonaligned India has traditionally been closer to China's arch enemy, the Soviet Union, a relationship that has grown since Mrs. Gandhi returned to power a year and a balf ago. Despite outstanding political differences, China appears determined to improve relations with India as part of its policy of taking a more active role in South Asia. This was the message carried by Chinese Prime Minister Zhao Ziyang in a tour of Pakistan, Nepal and Bangladesh earlier this month.

Diplomats said Zhao reassured India's neighbors that Chinese moves to normalize relations with New Delhi would not be at their expense. The prospect of a normalization of relations between Peking and New Delhi is matched by signs of a rapprochement between India and Pakistan, traditionally China's closest friend in the region.

Indian External Affairs Minister P.V. Narasimha Rao was in Islamabad this month for talks with Pakistani leaders. The two countries, which have fought three wars since independence in 1947, said the talks established a good basis for improving their often tense relations.

China bas said it favors the present detente between India and Pakistan. But diplomats said they expected Huang and Rao to voice opposing views on U.S. plans to arm the Pakistanis. Both Peking and Washington view Pakistan as a bulwark against Soviet expansionism but the Indian government fears a recent U.S. arms sales agreement with Pakistan could spark an arms race and lead to an American military presence on the subcontinent.

An Indian government spokesman said last week a U.S. decision to supply F-16 fighters to Pakistan could undermine serious efforts to normalize relations between New Delhi and Islamabad. Dip-Iomats say India fears U.S. plans for Gulf Security and its military support for Pakistan would intensify superpower rivalry in South and Central Asia, threatening the security of India and its neighbors. There were no indications that the moves to improve relations with China and Pakistan would draw India away from its close friendship with the Soviet Union. Mrs. Gandhi recently defended the relationship, which is based partly on substantial trade ties. The Soviet Union is India's main arms supplier and India, in turn, is the Soviet Union's leading trade partner in the developing world. Diplomats said Huang was unlikely to gain India's support for China's more strident attacks in the Soviet military presence in Afghanistan.

Mrs. Gandhi's government favors negotiation rather than confrontation over Afghanistan and has stopped short of outright condemnation of the Soviet intervention.

differences over Kampuchea. India has good relations with Vietnam, which has troops in Kampuchea, and it was India's recognition last year of the Vietnamese-backed Heng Samrin government which led Huang to postpone an earlier planned visit to New Delhi. Indian experts on Chinese affairs say one thing

The two sides are also unlikely to narrow their

that has helped China change its attitude toward New Delhi is a recognition of India's economic development and nuclear capability. Diplomats noted that Chinese leaders now referred to India as the other hig Asian power.

The diplomats said no big breakthrough was likely to emerge from Huang's 'talks with Rao and Mrs. Gaudhi. But they expected normalization of relations to speed up. One bilateral issue still dividing Peking and New Delhi is the border dispute that led to the 1962 war.

Zhao indicated during his visit to Nepal that the two sides might reach a package solution to the dispute "so long as both sides have a spirit of mutual understanding and mutual accommodation." There were suggestions in Indian newspapers the Chinese might offer to give up territory on India's northeastern frontier while bolding on to territory in the northwest where they have built roads. #### Kenya's baby boom baffles World Bank

NAIROB1 -Kenya's booming birth-rate, now growing at 4 percent a year and still rising, seems to be giving more concern to the World Bank than to certain sections of the Kenya government. Although President Daniel Arap Moi and his ministers are constantly warning Kenyans of the dangers (and millions have been spent over the years on family planning campaigns), there are still no signs of a slow-

This is all the more remarkable because in 1966 Kenya became the first black African country to adopt a family plannig policy. A World Bank mission has just arrived in Nairobi to discuss with the government its latest request for money to finance a costly new program for integrated rural health services, aimed at improving maternal and child health care - and adding another large component to the family planning service.

Although the World Bank has not yet conveyed its view to the government ufficially, some seniur officials in Washington are reportedly insisting that Kenya gives a full account of how its past loans for family planning have been spent before any fresh funds are released. Demographers, doctors and social scientists I have spoken to all say they are puzzled about where the vast sum of money given from overseas in recent years bas gone, as there is not much visible evidence of it anywhere in Kenya and there is no acute public awareness of the effect the "haby boom" is having on the economy especially in the provision of social services. Some crines say that the ministry of health, which hears the main responsibility for administering and coordinating national family planning services, is not sufficiently worried about this grave national problem. It has even been suggested that moving responsibility for family planning to the president's office would be more effective.

In the previous Kenyatta regime in Kenya, little more than lip-service was given to the subject because it was known that privately President Kenyatta was not very enthusiastic about limiting families. President Moi, however, has spoken out hlundy un the problem many times, while the minister for bome and constitutional affiars, Charles Njonjo, has been even more outspoken, accusing

Kenyans of "breeding like rabbits."

Three surveys have all come up with the same disconcerting information: that Kenya has the highest recorded birth-rate in the world. The latest revealed that the average woman has eight children in her lifetime. One of the main motives in life for many people is to try to have as many children as possible "to pass on the family name.

Many women appear to have an ingrained fear of early sterility and begin having children early in life. But, with success in controlling malaria and venereal diseases, few younger women do become sterile nowadays. The result is that they keep producing babies at short intervals. In the rural areas, women with nine or 10 children are not unusual.

Fear of incurring disapproval from their husbands prevents many Kenyan women from accepting family planning advice, as most men seem to want as many children as possible, not necessarily as many as they can afford. For this reason, hirth control injections are very popular among Kenyan women simply because injections can be kept secret from the husband, unlike some other birth control

Most of the newspapers Tuesday led with the weekly meeting of the Council of Ministers, which was held Monday under the chairmanship of Crown Prince Fahd. The papers reported that the council was acquainted with the outcome of King Khaled's recent tour of West Europe, and also heard three reports about the meetings of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) as well as the conferences of Endowments and Information

Newspapers frontpaged a report on the presentation of credentials to King Khaled by the new ambassadors of the United States, India, Sudan and North Yemen. The Arab Follow-Up Committee on Lebanon, now meeting in Jeddah, received wide coverage as a front-page story, while Al Nadwa reported that the Arab Boycott Committee has warned France against the repercussions from any orders that infringe on the provisions of the Arah boycott of Israel. Another page one story of considerable significance was the meeting of the Saudi-Japanese Joint Commission, which laid stress on cooperation in the areas of petrochemicals, desalination and electronics. In a front-page story, Al Jazirah quoted President Zia-ul-Haq of Pakistan as saying that all nuclear installations in the country have been placed under strict military surveillance, as a precautionary measure against any surprise air attack hy Israel. Impressed with Defense and Aviation Minister Prince Sultan's speech on the graduation ceremony at the Military Command College in Riyadh, Al

Gulf Cooperation Council (GCC) is a realistic formula that has given practicality to Arab action on the basis of unity and solidarity. The paper also highlighted the Minister's emphasis nn the tasks and obligations of the armed forces of the Islamie world and said that the Arab and Islamic armies can face all odds if they arm themselves with the most powerful weapon, which lies in their strict abidance by the sublime faith and its teachings.

Writing on the convocation of the Islamic University of Medina, taking place Wednesday, Okaz urged the holders of academic degrees to encourage people ro contribute in the process of development and to help Saudi Arabian society in overcoming its difficulties. Describing the graduates as the makers of the country's future, the paper said that the Kingdom has never spared any effort in consolidating the philosophy of Islam. All those obtaining academic degrees of the coovocation will be called upon to work to preserve the values of Islam from beretic ideologies, it added.

Al Jacirch, editorially, dealt with Arab-African unity, saying that their solidarity is of vital importance in regard to their crucial struggle against Zionism and racialism. The paper emphasized a dedicated service to the cause of unity and solidarity and called upon the Arab and African unity to embark on a joint action against the tendentious elements active against the Arabs and Africans. It welcomed the African initiative on the holding of an Afro-Arah summit meeting, and hoped that the Medina endorsed the Minister's conviction that the idea will receive a good response from the leaders. On the other hand, Al Riyadh discussed the mission of the Arab Follow-Up Committee on Lebanon, and said that its present meeting in Jeddah will concentrate on finding a final solution to the Zahle issue, so as to be able to prepare itself for drafting a national conciliation among all the parties concerned. The paper added that the partial calm in Lebanon and Arab and Islamie reaction to the Israeli attack on Iraq's nuclear reactor will make the Committee's task much easier today. Its success will also prove that the Arabs are no longer in need of any mediation between them and their enemies, the paper added.

On the same subject, Al Nadwa observed that the Committee now has a good opportunity to find a solution to the Lebanese crisis. In its deliberations, the paper said, the Committee will be called upon to take into consideration foreign attempts to inflame the situation in Lebanon and to keep a link between the Zionist enemy and some parties in Lebanon. The paper cautioned that it will be very difficult for the committee to make any further headway in its conciliation attempts unless these factors are considered seriously.

Al Bilad said that, while the parties concerned in Lebanon bave agreed to a ceasefire, they would do well now to determine their role in the future, as they will bave to build the bridges of mutual confidence to be able to restore security, stability and peace in the country.

Wonder about computers? Institute has answers

By Margaret Laing

LONDON, (LPS) - The use of computers, we are constantly told, will change all our lives but few ordinary people bave the opportunity of having any close contact with the micro-chip revolution or the chance to learn bow it could belp their working lives or their education.

More than a year ago the North London Polytechnic, an institution of further education decided to do something to fill the gap. With the backing of the Inner London Education Authority, the Polytechnic - which has students from more than 100 countries -recently opened a Community Computer Center (CCC) designed to belp small businessmen, shopkeepers, professional men, students and educators to develop confidence, familiarity and skill with computers.

On two days of the week, members of the public can simply walk into the center and obtain an immediate introduction to microcomputers with experts to guide them. On other days special instruction and demonstrations are available for groups such as commercial users, students and teachers, and community groups.

The CCC bas four main objectives: To make freely available for demonstration a range of micro-processor and other computer equipment which people may wish to introduce into their own business or other working environment: - To offer introductory micro-computer familiarization courses so that potential users can appreciate how they can make aspects of business more effective, for example by reducing paper work and saving staff;

- To provide computer facilities for local people to develop projects relative to their own interests, particularly in the business and commercial areas, and to provide a limited counselling service in association with these projects;.

To extend the range of computer equipment available to local school children and other students who will be encouraged to use the CCC when the demands from local business and community users have been satis-

Peter Jeffreys, Head of Computing Services at the Polytechnic, explained "Many people who are thinking of hnying a microcomputer start with too small a system if they do not have sufficient advice. A one-man business might find one micro-computer adequate but a small business with between 10 and 20 employees should spend in the region of $6000 to acquire a good, robust, expandable micro-computer system including a good printer and sufficient storage for stock, costing and invoicing.

"There is a great danger of thinking too small — if your business does very well you may suddenly find that you need more information on record, so you need to buy a system that can grow with your business. Even a fairly small business may have to list more than 300 customers and 500 stocklines."

The world of micro-computers is changing almost daily and a Computer Users Club belps people to keep up with the latest developments and find the right machine for

One British micro-computer, the Sindair ZX 81, sells for as little as $110 and the Cambridge-based firm Acom are developing a third version of a micro-computer which will probably sell for between $240 and is expected to play a key role in a series on computer literacy starting on BBC television in January 1982.

Interest in micro-computers bas grown swiftly among British farmers and growers. A micro-computer with ancillary equipment and a useful range of farm business programs can be bought for about $10,000 and a good single-enterprise system for a dairy farm for about $4,000.

But the applications of computers are not limited to science and business. They can help to teach children to translate words into foreign languages-and revolutionize the study of

Indonesian 'scavengers' worsen cigarette threat

By Kenneth L. Whiting

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) - Even greater health hazards than those faced by normal smnkers are being encountered here where thousands of private entrepreneurs patrol city sidewalks in search of discarded cigarette butts which they recycle into new cigarettes. Long bamboo tweezers and a metal can are the tools of the trade of the ubiquitous butt scavengers, known as "profesi jepit." Jepit in Indonesian means "to grip." and profesi means "profession." Depending on quality, stubs bring from 72 cents to $1.28 a kilogram. Most prized are the butts of "kretek" cigarettes, a uniquely Indonesian type that is laced with cloves, and burns with a pleasant aroma and a soft crackling sound.

"The booming business of cigarctte butts has given a better life to a few people, but has exposed many others to greater health hazards," the official Antara Vews Agency said in a recent report. However, the government is doing nothing to curb the recycled cigarette industry, and none of Indonesia's commercial cigarette makers acknowledge that they buy the discarded material for use in their products.

Forty-year-old Hariyanto -- like many Indonesians, he has only one name - says he can gather five kilograms of salvageable cigarette butts on sunny days, but only about three kilograms when it rains. For his labors, he said, he earns between $64 and $192 a month. The St. Java native became a profesi jepit only after he was unable to find con-

Miss Salminah, 45, a former maid, says sbe manages to pick up only three to four kilograms of butts a day, "But I prefer being a stub collector to being a housemaid."

The clove cigarettes that are most popular finds for the collectors were invented by a man named Nitiseoito in the central Java town of Kudus in the 1920's. The industry continues in that region today, and the government encourages it as part of a campaign to provide jobs.

According to the Directorate General of Multifarious Industry, the number of people employed for making clove digarettes has almost doubled since 1975, to 130,328 last year. This does not include profesi jepits, about whom there is little official data.

Nor is there any indication of how much of the product - 36.9 billion hand-rolled and 13.4 machine-made clove cigarettes - contained ingredients provided by butt collec-

However, the kretek industry has grown so much in recent years that producers of ordinary cigarettes, known as "whites," are feeling the pressure. P.T. Bat Indonesia, one of the country's largest makers of white cigarettes, warned stockholders in its latest annual report that kreteks' growing popularity "is the underlying problem" facing he company.

The clove cigarette industry, which is dominated by Liem Siu Liong, a close assocaite of President Suharto, and the president's youngest balf-brother, Probosutedjo, receives excise tax breaks from the govern-

The blend varies from brand to brand: according to the Federation of Cigarette Makzre, but usually is about 1.2 kilograms of tobacco and 0.8 kilograms of cloves per thousand kreteks.

Street peddlers, who offer both commercial brands and privately-made recycled smokes, sell individual kreteks for about 6 cents a pack of 10 costs 48 cents. "The stub business may be booming, but the government is certainly not bappy about it because it tarnishes the image of the country and poses a big health hazard," Antara

A number of German-based firms have been conducting studies which will enable employers to improve working conditions for the disabled. A number of new products bave been designed under the auspices of this program which will enable the handicapped worker to perform as well as the unhandicapped. Designs incorporate improvements which can be made on normal equipment to enable it to be used by the disabled on a day-to-day basis, and improvements to fac-tory machinery which enable handicapped workers to use it.

Studies are now underway by the Dortmund-based Federal Institute for Work Safety and Accident Research. This institute is carrying out studies on two different projects which are designing work aids designed for the handicapped. Wiretapping of employee

Nixon, aides held liable to pay damages

WASHINGTON, June 23 (R) - The U.S. Supreme Court has upheld a decision that former President Richard Nixon, former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and former Attorney General John Mitchell could be held personally liable for damages for illegally wiretapping a former Kis-

The court split four-to-four on the issue, thus leaving unchanged an appeals court ruling that the three could face heavy financial penalties for anthurities and conducting a wiretap on ex-aide Morton Halperin.

Nixon administration officials had said they were attempting to trace the source of leaks of classified information on the U.S.

role in Southeast Asia, among other things. The wiretap remained on the Halperin family telephone for 21 months from May, 1969 and never revealed any leak of classified information. Monday's ruling means the case will go back to a trial court to compute the amount of damages the former officials will bave to pay out of their nwn pockets to Halperin.

They could be liable by law for up to $100 a day for each day the illegal tap existed. A lower court ruled that the tap violated the constitutional prohibition against searches without a warrant, in addition to a federal anti-crime law. An appeals court then president and his aides should be given absolute immunity. Government lawyers had argued that not to do so would seriously interfere with the president's ability to conduct the duties of his office.

Also liable for the illegal wiretap, but not included in Monday ruling, was former presidential assistant Robert Haldeman.

The Supreme Court was unable to provide a majority for either side because associate justice William Rehnquist did not participate in the decision. Rehnquist served as an assistant attorney general in the Nixon administration and it is presumed he chose not to participate because of apparent conflict of interest.

The divided opining means the Supreme Court bas not definitively ruled on the issue of immunity for the ex-president and his officials, but has let the appeals court decision stand until the Supreme Court can rule

Arms talks take 9 months to commence, Rostow says

WASHINGTON, June 23 (R) - Engene Rostow, President Runald Reagan's nominee as arms control chief, said here the United States would not be ready to open strategic arms negotiations with the Soviet Union for at least nine months.

Rostow suggested the United States should seek in renewed SALT (Strategic Arms Limitation) talks to reduce nuclear arsenals rather than merely limit them. He cast doubt nn U.S. ability to verify Soviet compliance with a treaty, and on information Moscow provides about weapons.

Rostow was speaking Monday to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which was discussing his appointment as director of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency. Rostow, 67, a Democrat whn served as undersecretary of state for political affairs under President Lyndon Johnson, said the Reagan administration was only starting to define its stance on a strategic arms treaty. "As of this moment 1 don't know anybody in the government whn knows what it is we want to negotiate about," be said. His estimate of nine months until the talks open was a hope and a target. Events in Afghanistan or Poland could .. greatly affect this forecast, Rostow added.

Sen. Charles Percy sought to draw a distiction between negotiations and talks leading to actual bargaining, Rostow said such talks would in fact be negotiations if they touched nn substantive issues. Rostow said the administration had not decided whether to try to renegotiate SALT II, still technically awaiting Senate approval, or whether to proceed on an agenda for SALT III. He said the treaty negotiated by the Carter administration was deeply flawed and that a fresh start should be made in seeking both arms control and arms reduction, Rostow suggested new negotiations be called Start (strategic arms reduction talks) to suggest a dramatie cut in the nuclear arsenals might start with the biggest missiles.

During the SALT II negotiations the Soviet Union sharply rejected a U.S. proposal for a big cut in existing missiles.

Spain legalizes divorce

MADRID, June 23 (AFP)- Divorce has been legalized in Spain after being banned by Gen. Francisco Franco 41 years ago in this predominantly Catholic country.

After several weeks of debate of a draft law, the Congress of Deputies Monday approved in a secret vote a bill permitting divorce by mutual consent following official separation for one or two years. Abandoning the home without just cause and extramarital relations constitute the main grounds for which afficial separation is authorized by the new law, which will take effect in a few weeks following standard technical procedures for its implementation.

Debate nn the law went almost unnoticed in Spain, despite a vncal campaign for the right to divorce waged by women's groups during recent years. Approval of the bill, presented by Justice Minister Francisco Fernandez Ordonez, was seen as a failure for the conservative Christian Democrat sector of Spain's ruling Union of the Democratic Center (UDC) party. Ordonez heads the UDC liberal Social Democrat sector.

The Congress rejected an amendment to the law, proposed by the Senate and supported by conservative UDC members, which would bave granted a judge the power tn refuse a divorce if it was proven that it would be harmful to the children or one member of the couple.

After the vnte, the Christian Democrat sector of the UDC called on Justice Minister Ordnnez to resign over the lack of party unity, but he refused.

Legalized in 1932 under the Spanish Republic, divorce was banned in 1939 by Franco. A draft law on divorce presented in 1979 by former Justice Minister Inigo Cavero failed to ubtain congressional approval.

American justice gets sack for calling Jew kikie ALBANY, New York, June 23 (AP) — A town justice with almost 20 years on the bench has been ordered removed from office because he ended a letter to a Jewish man from Pennsylvania with the phrase "so long

The State's commission on Judicial Conduct issued its ruling Monday against Morgan Bloodgnod, who has served as a town justice in Malta, north of Albany since 1962. The Bloodgood letter was sent after David Rosenblum of suburban Philadelphia stopped payment on a $15 check sent to the justice in March 1979 to cover a speeding ticket.

Bloodgood, who could not be reached for comment, has 30 days to appeal the order to the state court of appeals. Commission administrator Gerald Stern noted Bloodgood had resigned from the post in January only to be reappointed "on a temporary basis" by the town board a few days later.

However, town officials said Monday Bloodgood would be giving up his justice duties completely "by the end of the mnnth" because of retirement. "Ethnie or religious slurs, offensive to decorum and decency under ordinary circumstances, are particularly intolerable when spoken or written by a judge," the commission said.

"When a judge demonstrates prejudice by deliberately using the term 'Kikie' (Jew). public confidence in the integrity of the courts is diminished, and the administration of justice is seriously compromised," the commission added.

Bloodgood's attorney argued the justice didn't know the phrase was a religious slur.

New world information order UNESCO clears first hurdle

PARIS, June 23 (AP) - A UNESCO conference on communications has ended with decisions on concrete steps to beip developing countries improve their communications after a political debate in which the Western media came under fire.

The 35-nation council to create a new international program for the development of communications (IPDC) agreed to meet again in Mexico in late November to hear reports outlining Third World needs, decide on initial projects, review applications for a program director and draw up financial guidelines.

UNESCO's Director-General Amadou Mahtar M'Bnw of Senegal said the program, which is under the auspices of the U.N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, had cleared its first hurdle to mobilize practical assistance.

He told participants that in the next few days he would launch an appeal to governments and organizations, both public and private, to contribute as quickly as possible to the program and pledged his secretariat would do all it could to assure success.

The businesslike atmosphere of the closing session contrasted sharply with the Monday morning meeting when several Third World nations charged Western media, with distorted reporting of UNESCO activities and debates.

Iraq's Aziz A. Haidar singled out The International Herald Tribune and said a report on a seminar held at the Paris-based daily last week that included Third World conference participants chosen from among themselves was an attempt to divide the "Group of 77" developing countries from the nonaligned

Saudi Arabia said the report in the paper's weekend edition was an example of what happens every day in media accounts of UNESCO and "proves the need for a code of ethics to make sure this doesn't happen

Western governments and media watch-because they would tend to foster state interference in the reporting of news. M' Bow and his spokesman have repeatedly denied this is the ultimate goal of UNESCO's program to establish a "new world information order." At the conference, the Group of 77, conscious that money and the support of some Western governments for UNESCO were in the balance, attempted to unfreeze the present political stalemate in the communications debate and get down to the practical assistance.

The nonaligned movement, although it includes many of the Group of 77, tends to take more political positions on many questions. During the conference it circulated a statement condemning the Israeli attack June 7 on a nuclear reactor near Baghdad.

Cuba and the Soviet Union supported Iraq with the Russians getting in an indirect criticism of the Americans' stated intention not to make any direct financial contribution to the new communications program.

U.S. chief representative William G. Harley deplored the debate, telling the conference it was getting far afield from what the United States saw as its essentially technical nature. "We are slowly croding the successful launching of this program," Harley said. "In promoting it the United States hoped UNESCO would turn away from just this kind of thing."

Harley said he was satisfied with the way the conference went. He said the Western nations achieved most of their objectives, including a compromise that said while decisions would be made by majority vote efforts to reach a consensus would be a priority. The consensus provision serves as a brake on forays into ideological areas.

As it turned out all decisions during the meeting were made by consensus, remarked Jean Ping, bead of the Gabon delegation who acts as spokesman for the African nations. He said all participants showed a desire to avoid confrontation and make the program work.

African oil states rule out price cut

ALGIERS, June 23 (R) — The oil mioisters of Algeria, Libya, Gaboo and Nigeria have decided to maintain the official sale price of their crude oil at a meeting in the Algerian oasis of Hassi Messaoud, the Algerian news agency APS reported.

The ministers uoanimously reaffirmed their determination to maintain their official sale price at present of their crude oil as was decided at the last OPEC conference," the agency said Monday.

The agency said the four ministers agreed to take all necessary measures to support the price structure.

Oil industry sources said Algeria, Lihya and Nigeria had been under pressure from Western oil companies to cut their prices, currently the highest in OPEC at $40 a barrel. Gabon charges between $35 and 37 a barrel and is the smallest OPEC producer.

Further pressure came at a recent OPEC oil ministers' meeting in Geoeva wheo Saudi Arabia offered to increase its marker price to $34 a barrels if Nigeria Libya and Algeria cut their price to $39, but no agreement was

The Algerian news agency said that the ministers denounced what they described as AP information campaign against OPEC organized by certain oil companies, particularly io the Western media.

The four ministers, Abdussalam Zagaar of Libya, Mbouy Boutzit of Gabon, Yahia Dikko of Nigeria and Belkacem Nahi of Algeria, left Hassi Messaoud.

In London, meanwhile, an independent research organization forecast Monday that most major West Europeao countries will pay less for their oil in real terms in the next two years because prices will rise only

Ecocomie Models (EM), party of data research international, said the weakness of oil prices this year, caused by a world glut and low demand, would cootinue in 1982.

It calculated that oil prices would rise from ao average $38 a harrel to $40 in 1982. Taking inflatioo into account this would

U.S. hints at technology export curb

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP) — U.S. Commerce Secretary Malcolm Bakirige says he expects the Ronald Reagan administration to tighten controls on the export of sophisticated technology to the Soviet Union.

The administration is currently conducting a review of U.S. policy on trade with the Soviet Unioo. Baldrige said he did not think the administration's trade policy would be aimed at punishing the communist nation for foreign policy activities the administration did not like.

"I don't think it's a question of punishing as much as why should we help the Soviets when they're working at cross-purposes to ourse-lves," be said Monday in an interview with the Associated Press. "It's to our best interest to have tight cootrols on anything that would help them, that they could use against us or any of our allies or friends."

"In general," he said, "it would be a tightening" of export controls on high technology. he said be thought "the receot international behavior of the Soviet Union bas oot been cooducive to any relaxation of controls on our part...there would have to be a shift in their course on intervention, terrorism, so forth for us to consider any change in our policy now." The commerce chief labeled current export controls as "pretty tight."

"There is very little trade with the Soviets oow," be said. A main task before the administratioo, he said, is to update the Cocom list that cootrols the export to Mos-cow of bundreds of products with military or atomic use or those that have the potential for military use. Cocom stands for coordinating committee and is made up of 15 nations - all are the members of NATO, except for Iceland and Japan. Countries can request - and get - an except to the Cocom controls.

U.S. inflation rises anew

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP) — A sharp rise in housing costs pushed the U.S. annual inflation rate to 8.4 percent in May, more than three points above the previous month's rate, the government reported

But for the first time since early 1979, the 12-month gain in the consumer price index was less than 10 percent — a further bolster-ing of economists' predictions that the double-digit crunch is finally at an end. Prices in May were 9.8 percent higher than in May

May's rise in housing costs - primarily reflecting higher mortgage interest rates and house prices — accounted for most of the 0.7 percent monthly increase, the Lahor Department said in its report. Declines were posted, however, in gasoline and food prices. The May data means that for the first five months of the year, infletion also rose et an 8.4 percent annual clip, well below the 12.4. percent rate registered for all of last year. Specifically, the department's report said:

- Housing costs rose 1.3 percent, boosted by an increase of 2.1 percent in mortage interest rates and 0.9 percent in house prices. Rent rose 0.8 percent, the largest gain since October, Housing prices overall rose 0.7 percent in April. - Gasoline prices continued declining, falling 1.5 percent, after a 1.4 percent drop in - Food and deverage prices declined 0.2

- Prices of new cars rose 2.4 percent, partly as a result of American manufacturers' ending their rebate programs. All of the figures are adjusted for seasonal variations. May's 0.7 percent rise overall follows increases of 0.4 percent in April and 0.6 percent in March.

The report said the unadjusted consumer price index rose to 269.0 in May, which means that goods and services costing $10 in 1967 would have cost $26.90 last month.

The Lahor Department also said real spendable earnings - after taxes and after adjusting for inflation - dropped 0.4 percent in May for an average married wage earner with three dependents. Real spendable earnings were down 2.0 percent from May 1980.

Since the spring of 1980, inflation has declined slowly but steadily. The decline has prompted some economists to express optimism that the nation may finally he coming out of its double-digit crunch. The Reagan administratioo is predicting e 10.2 percent inflation rate for the year, measured from December 1980 to December 1981.

Donald Ratajczak, director of the economic forecasting project at Georgia State University, is predicting consumer prices will rise 8.5 percent. Edward Yardeni, chief economist and vice president of the Brojrage House E.F. Hutton and Co. forecasts an even smaller, 5.1 percent rise.

France who were crushed by New Zealand in the tour's two "Tests," faced Auckland which included six internationals. The French team put together some effective moves and contained the Auckland side reasonably well in the first half but Kiwi center James Leulai and Ian Bell both broke through for tries.

Gut Alard managed to cut back the deficit for France when he scored a try in the 25th minute. In the second half the power and penetration of the New Zealanders gave them greater territorial advantage and dane O'hara put France up again with a third try. Guy Laforgue touched down for France 20

Swedish coach confident

STOCKHOLM, June 23 (R) - Portugal, already favorites to qualify for the World Soccer Cup finals in Spain next year, will not underestimate Sweden wheo they clash in a European qualifying Group Six tie Wednes-

The Portuguese scored a morale boosting 2-0 win over Spain oo Saturday, but manager Jici Pereira said he had a lot of respect for the Swedes, who beat Northern Ireland early this month. "I know too much about Swedish soccer to expect an easy win, and we'll be happy with one point," Pereira said.

Scotland head the Group at present with eight points from five games followed by the Irish with six points from the same number of matches. But Portuguese are well placed just one point behind the Irish with two games in hand. Sweden, despite that victory over Northern Ireland have just four points from five outings and a defeat Wednesday will end their ioterest in the tournament. But coach Lars Arnesson is confident the Swedes can shock their powerful visitors.

"The Portuguese oormally play better in front of their home fans, but playing away is a completely different thing," said Amesson.

EDDAH, Juoe 23 - The third annual urodrive" tour departs from Jeddah arsday at the start of a three week promon trip that will take 16 adventurous drives 1 ten cars on a 3,000-mile journey ending July 18 at the Silverstooe motor racing ck in England.

The drive is part of a Saudia campaign ned at advertising their Formula 1 world mpion racing driver, Alan Jones, who will competing at Silverstone in the British and Prix. The fleet of black Golf GTI cars has been specially prepared with each car proudly displaying the names of the Eurodrive sponsors, Saudia, Samaco Binladen, Gulf Oil, Goodyear, and National Panasonic, and during the European tour they will make seven promotion stops at Saudia offices in major cities along the way.

The coordinator for this year's Euro drive is Geoff Gladstone, who works in Jeddah for Saudia. This is his third trip and he feels sure it will be the best. "The experience of the past two years has allowed me sort out most of the problems hefore the drive begins' Geoff

Geoff also outlined the reasons for choosing the Golf GTI. "In the previous years we used hig sports cars. These were very heavy on petrol which created some bad feeling en route. The GTI is small, economical and reliable, but is also a high performance car (10-60mph in 8.2s) which fits the motor racing

All the drivers take an active interest in motor racing and are lonking forward to the climax of the trip, the British Grand Prix at Silverstone. Alan Jones will be on hand to welcome the fleet, which should provide Jones, and Saudia, with a fine start to the EURODRIVE TEAM: Geoff Gladstone, Ray Stone, Pete and Ian Gunner, Gordon Briers, Les Wright, Mike Wade, Liam Cahill, Dave Wade, Mel Chittock, Bernie Blomfield, Derek Stephenson, Phil Cahill, Barry Chittock, Kev Blomfield and Kev Stephenson.

PARTICIPANTS: Some of the drivers who will take part in the "Eurodrive" make a happy picture as they pose besides one of the sparkling Golf GTIs.

Opening lead — king of clubs.

It's funny how some players get mad at their partners. Now I have a friend, Abernethy C. Growler, who is a member of this school, Just put 13 cards in his hand, good or bad, and he acquires the wisdom of a Solomon and the autocracy of a sergeant with new stripes.

Abernethy was playing at the club one day with Aloysius Meek, and be got to four hearts. No sooner had dummy hit the table than Abernethy hit the ceiling. He couldn't understand how Meek could stop short of a small slam, let alone a grand slam. And he said so in no uncertain terms. After Abernethy calmed down a bit, he ruffed the club lead in dummy and played the K-A of hearts. When East showed out, South was in trou-ble. After cashing the queen of hearts, Abernethy tried to run the diamonds, but West trumped the third one and South lost a trump, a club and two spades to go down one. Mr. Meek, who is no dope, saw that South could have made the contract. After three rounds of trumps, he could have given West his trump trick then and there and lost only a heart and two clubs.

Or Abernethy could have led the nine of hearts at trick two and played low as a safety measure against J-x-x-x of hearts. This play would have produced twelve tricks. But wish I had passed two hearts. .Then we'd have gone plus instead of minus." @1981 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Moscow threat noted

Haig hopes to form Sinai force by July

(Agencies) - U.S. Secretary of State Alexander Haig said Tuesday the United States hopes to have agreement on an interoational peacekeeping force for the Sinai peninsula later this month or at least by the end of July.

He encountered reservations here from Australia and New Zealand, two oarloos the United States wants to participate in the force. The international force would serve as a huffer between the Egyptians and Israelis when the Israeli Army completes its withdrawal next April from occupied Sinai.

The administration of President Ronald Reagan has committed the United States tn provide up to half of the proposed 2.000memher farce, which is an outgrowth of the U.S.-sponsored Camp David peace pact bet-

Bush to meet Mitterrand

President George Bush, thrust into prominence after a gunman wouoded President Reagao, undertakes a major diplomatic venture Wednesday when be meets French President François Mitterrand in Paris. Bush was flyiog to Paris as Reagan's personal envoy to improve French-American relations following Mitterrand's election last month.

The French and U.S. presidents will not meet until they go to Ottawa in July for a seven-nation summit, so it will be up to Bush to belp Reagan form his first impression of the new French leader.

The vice presideot confers with Mitterrand Wednesday and then goes to London for talks with British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher, who met Reagan in Washington four months ago. On Saturday be will report to the president at Reagan's California ranch. Reagan leaves Washington Wednesday to make a number of speeches pushing his proposals for sweeping cuts in taxes and govemment spending.

From the view of the White House, the vice president's mission is getting off to a good start because the final round of parliamentary ons to France on Sunday gave Mitterrand a majority in the National Assembly. Reagan's decision to send Bush to Paris to prepare for his Ottawa meetings with Mitterrand reflected his close relationship and confidence in the vice president. Bush's only constitutional responsibilities are to preside over the Senate and to take over in the White House if the president dies, resigns or is otherwise iocapable of performing his duties. But, following the example of President Jimmy Carter with Vice President Walter Mondale, Bush has been giveo a meaningful policy role by Reagan.

"We are very anxious to have participation in a modest way both by Australia and New Zealand," Haig told a news conference at the conclusion of a two-day meeting of ANZUS, a regional security alliance of the three

But the Australian and New Zealand foreigo ministers, speaking at the same conference, made clear that they want more information on the makeup and fun . . a of the force before they decide if they will join. Australian Tony Street said, "it would be very unusual for Australia to participate in a non-United Nations force. We want further information on the composition." Brian Tolboys, his New Zealand counterpart, said, "we bave virtually the same positioo. The United States has abandoned the idea of a U.N. unit for the Sinai because of the certainty of a Soviet veto in the U.N. Security Council of any measure that would create such a force. The soviets are backing hardline Arab conotries opposed to the Egyptian-Israeli peace agreement.

Haig said the U.S. view was that the

In a communique eoding the ANZUS meeting, the three oations criticized the Soviet interveotion on Afghanistan, calling It a "serious threat to global and regional stability and to the independence of all states."

They also "reaffirmed" their stand that Poland, uoder sbarp attack from the Soviet Union because of its political and labor !reforms, should be allowed to settle its own affairs without outside intervention.

In their comment on a third trouble spot, Cambodia, the three said they backed an international conference scheduled to be beld next month in New York that would seek the withdrawal of 200,000 Vietnamese troops from Cambodia.

After the press conferen Zealand for the United States Wellington was the last stop of a diplomanc sweep through Asia that took Haig to China, Hong Kong, Manila and New Zealand. A constant theme of the ANZUS talks was that the 30-year-old alliance was as relevant now, because of dangers posed by Moscow, as it was when it was formed to guard against a resurgence of Japanese militarism.

Haig said in a dinner speech Monday night that ANZUS was the "spinal column" of peace and stability in the Pacific, and was more important now than at its inception.

They said doctors would carry out more tests to determine the cause of the infection, which brought the 61-year-old Pope back into bospital Saturday. The tests would be carried out in the Pope's room on the 10th floor of the Gemelli Hospital, they added.

Vatican Secretary of State Agostino
Casiroli visited the Pope for about half an hour Tuesday, Vatican sources said. During the Pope's illness Cardinal Casiroli has taken charge of Vatican affairs but reports to him regularly, they added.

tries to speak out firmly in favor of negotiations aimed at preventing another round in the arms race. These talks should be bonest and based on equality, without any precondi-tion or attempts at diktat, the Soviet president said.

In his speech Brezhnev condemned "Americao imperialism" and what he described as the unprecedented scope of the arms race throughout the world. He accused the United States of avoiding talks on "limiting the arms process, on eliminating areas of conflict and on solving peacefully contentious international problems'

Stressing the dangers of NATO's plans for stationing new American noclear missiles in Western Europe, the Soviet leader accused Washington of "encouraging acts of aggression and banditry from their minions". Negotiations offered the only way to solve international problems, be said, adding: every day lost for oegotiations increases the risk of a ouclear conflict.

Tuesday's speech was the first in two weeks the Kremlin leader charging that the United States was not interested in resuming talks on limiting weapons. His comments appeared designed to put pressure on European governments to reconsider a 1979 NATO decisioo to deploy U.S. missiles in 1983 if Washington and Moscow do not agree on limiting them.

The West German, British and Italian governments have already agreed on deployment of the missiles on their territory, but Belgium and the Netherlands have postponed a final decision until December.

Soviets back hard-liners in Poland

WARSAW, Juoe 23 (Agencies) - A new group of hard-line Communists approved by Moscow emerged in Poland Tuesday in what appeared to be a stepped-up campaign against the Polish party's reform-mioded majority. Poles were informed about the group, the Poznan Communist Forum, in a report by the Soviet oews ageocy Tass which was published in major dailies.

Informed Soviet sources said the Poznan Forum was founded a week ago in sympathy with a similar upofficial forum in Katowice which Monday night issued a statement attacking liberal trends in the official mass media. Until Tuesday's Tass report, there had been on mention of the Poznan Forum in the Polish press.

Hard-liners, seeking to reverse or check the reforms since last summer's labor revolt, have found only a small constituency in Poland but they are receiving increasing support from elsewhere in the Soviet bloc. Soviet bloc pressure on Poland, visible mainly in the mass media, was clearly linked to cext month's special party congress, which is expected to sanctioo most of the democratic reforms of the last 12 months. Western diplomats in Warsaw said that with the congress scheduled to begin in three weeks on July 14 they expected the pressure to mount. Both the Poznan and Katowice groups have issued warnings against radical trends in the ruling party and the Poznan group appealed to the delegates to elect leaders who would guarantee orthodox Marxism, The two groups also criticized the official media in an attempt to persuade party boss Stanislaw Kania to carry out his promises to crack down on anti-Communist tendencies in the press. Izestia, the Soviet government newspaper, charged Tuesday that "all sorts of political adventurers" are operating in Poland and anti-Communist leaflets and other illegal publications' still are being distributed in this Warsaw Pact country.

The Soviet Communist Party newspaper Pravda accused the United States and NATO of "fomenting fear and mistrust" to inspire anti-Sovietism in Poland: The commentary in Tuesday's editions did hor specify what the United States or other NATO nations had done to instigate the anti-Soviet acts.

Good Morning

With true stories like these, who oeeds fiction? This is the thought that comes to one after a reading of the inside pages of the foreign press, well away from the world-shaking headlines (these indeed have been shaking the world so much recently it's starting to lonk distinctly green).

First story comes from Miami, where the chief of an airline company decided the morale of his employees needed uplift. So he went to the nearest sound studio and cut a disc of his own voice crooning toeveryone about the mono in June, etc. He then made the board of directors join in - on side B. He theo sent the thing to each and every employee; together with his best wishes. Upon which all hell broke lose. Utter disgust with the performance, and reminder that money bonuses are the only remedy for sagging morale. He saw the fairness of the comment, and decided on an answer: the oohle sum of eighty cents to be paid for every record the employees returned.

Then there's the story, also from the United States — from Arizona to be exact - of the police getting oews that a certain club had opened up in their town, and that the services it was offering were, shall we say, not all above board.

The chief thought the best way to deal with the situation was to infiltrate some policemen in as members, to catch the rest, as it were, in flagrance. Otherwise, he reasoned, the club would be tipped off before any raid, and all the police would see as they burst in would be people sitting around baving a civilized conversation with nothing stronger than tea in sight.

But here the soag developed. Whatever the dnb was offering had such a market that there was no way of ohtaining membership. So the "double agents" bad to put their names on a two-month-long waiting list. It was only theo that they could get in and bring the place down on the beads of owner and members.
